

SEATS FOR ALL CARS
WEST SIDE CARSPublic Service Commission's Agents Report Big Improvement in Surface Car Service.

RESULT OF PROTESTS

More Cars Are Run Through in the Evening Rush Hours in Broadway and Sixth Avenue.

Surface car service on the Broadway and Sixth Avenue lines in the evening rush hours has been increased so that now it is possible for any one bound for points above Fifth street to obtain a seat on the homeward evening ride. This improvement followed a promise made last week by Frank Hedley, general manager of the New York Railways Company. The improvement in the service is shown by the reports of agents of the Public Service Commission, who had checked the cars passing through Herald square on January 15 and on January 22.

This good news is likely to be followed, according to information obtained from merchants and workers in the Herald's investigation of surface car service, by a diversion of traffic from the overcrowded subway and elevated lines to the surface lines of the west side. Many persons told Herald reporters that they had abandoned subway travel in evening rush hours when the subway first became overcrowded, finding the surface routes more acceptable at that time. They complained that the surface service subsequently had grown so bad that they had become convinced of a deliberate effort by the management to crowd all available traffic to the subway and elevated lines to increase the profits of the latter.

With good surface service restored a return from the subway to the surface cars of a large number of regular passengers of the west side is expected. The Public Service Commission, it is asserted, will not permit any reduction in the service.

Most important of the improvements is the reduction in the number of Broadway and Sixth Avenue cars which were stopped at Fifth street and Fifty-ninth street, on their evening rush hour trips north. Checkers had reported that fifty-one percent of the cars ended their trips north at these points. These short trip cars were not carrying standing passengers. The forty-nine per cent, which were permitted to continue on the longer trips to 103rd, 109th, 125th and 148th streets, were reported overcrowded.

The check of surface car travel on January 22 showed that every fifteen minutes in the northbound Broadway cars crossing the Forty-fourth street station, there were thirty-four cars, between five and seven o'clock in the evening, there were twenty-three vacant seats to every seventy-seven seats filled, whereas on January 15 there had been no vacant seats and much crowding. The number of cars operated on the line showed an increase of from 142 to 186 cars, or thirty-one per cent.

The short tripping of the majority of the cars on Broadway and Sixth Avenue had also come to an end. On January 22, 51 per cent stopping at Fifty-ninth and Fifty-fifth streets, only 38 per cent now stop there. The checkers reported that the decrease in the number of those compelled to stand in cars of these lines was 39 per cent.

On the Sixth Avenue line the average load showed a reduction of from 72 per cent to 58 per cent. The increase in northbound service on the Sixth Avenue line was 47 per cent, as shown by the checkers. The Amsterdam Avenue line maintained its three minutes schedule and showed an increase in the number of cars of 35 per cent.

MAYOR ON SINGLE TAX.

Mayor Gaynor yesterday expressed his views on the Sullivan-Short bill, which proposes the establishment of the single tax on land, in a letter to T. G. Ellisworth, of the Farmers and Taxpayers' Association. Regarding the principle of the bill the Mayor wrote:

"The effect would be to absorb into the public treasury by means of taxes the entire ground rent which may be fairly stated at somewhere from ten to five per cent of the value of the bare land. Of course, if all ground rents should be absorbed into the public treasury there would be no value left on vacant lots left. To speak plainly, this would mean the confiscation of all such land values. You have to decide whether this would be just."

SAYS FIANCE TOOK CASH.

Miss Anna Anzell Tells of Loss of $100 and Police Search for Arthur Scaron.

Miss Anna Anzell, twenty-two years old, of No. 41 Bergen street, yesterday charged Arthur Scaron, twenty-two years old, of No. 72 Factory street, Newark, with receiving $100 which she had taken from her father on Thursday, and the police are looking for him. The couple were engaged to be married. She said that the young man told her that they would go before a Justice of the Peace, be married and would then go to Philadelphia to live. There was no objection by her parents to their wedding and she objected to eloping. He insisted, and told her to get what money her father had, as she had been told she could have $100 when she married. She took $100 and gave it to the young man. They went to a moving picture and vaudeville show, after which Scaron told her they would be married. During the show he excused himself and failed to return.

SUES FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

Woman Wins Annulment Case, Now Begins Another Court Action.

Suit for $10,000 damages for alleged breach of promise was begun in the Circuit Court in Newark yesterday, against Vincenzo Cairo, of No. 34 First street, that city. The plaintiff is Marie Zampino, of No. 11 Catlin street. According to her statement, she married Angelo Lionetti at Stamford, Conn., in 1906, but soon afterward learned that he had been wife living at that time. She then began suit to have the marriage annulled and while the suit was pending Mr. Cairo appeared and made love to her and in August, 1910, promised to marry her.

In March of last year, her suit for the annulment of her marriage was decided in her favor in the Connecticut courts, but meanwhile, she asserts, Cairo had ceased his attention to her.

Woman Who Annoyed Mayor with Letters Is Found and ArrestedShe Accused Mr. Gaynor of Being Responsible for Her Misfortunes and Threatened Him—She Is Sent to Bellevue to Have Her Sanity Tested.

Mayor Gaynor has received many letters written in German in which the writer blamed him for various misfortunes and threatened him if he did not rectify matters. Policemen who were assigned to the case by Commissioner Waldo yesterday arrested Pauline Kruger, who is bent with age, as the acknowledged writer of the letters.

In one of her letters Mrs. Kruger accused the Mayor of being responsible for the actions of a band of men who were hounding her. The Mayor was blamed in another letter for the loss of the writer's house in Flatbush. Various threats were made against Mr. Gaynor.

Mayor Gaynor turned over nine letters to Commissioner Waldo. Policemen McMahon and Werszansky arrested Mrs. Kruger at the corner of East Eighty-fourth street and Second Avenue. She gave her address as No. 304 East Eighty-fourth street, but there is no such number. When taken before Magistrate Kernochan Mrs. Kruger was chippy and in good humor. She did not look capable of harming a fly.

Policeman Werszansky told the Magistrate that the aged woman had been hounding the Mayor much annoyance and worry by her letters. Through an interpreter Mrs. Kruger said that she was sixty-one years old and the mother of twelve children, four living and eight dead. She told a rambling story about a son murdered in Newark, N. J., by poison. She said the property she had lost consisted of a house at No. 301 East Twenty-first street, Brooklyn. From 1901 to 1907, she declared, she had paid taxes on it and had the house kept in Europe. She placed $500 in the hands of a banker to pay the taxes. This he neglected to do, she said, and the property was sold in 1909.

Why do you bother the Mayor about all this? asked the Magistrate. "Who else should I bother?" she retorted. "Is he not head of the police?" Magistrate Kernochan paroled Mrs. Kruger in the custody of Mrs. Broadbent, a matron, and then suddenly changed his mind. The Magistrate said that he did not like to take the responsibility of allowing her at large and that he thought the physicians at the psychopathic ward of Bellevue might better determine what should be done with her.

SUGGEST CITY TO OPERATE SUBWAYSJ. Sergeant Cram's Resolution for Information Adopted by Public Service Commission.

Municipal operations of subways was suggested yesterday when J. Sergeant Cram presented a resolution at a meeting of the Public Service Commission directing counsel to report on what legal steps would be necessary to authorize the city to undertake the operation of the routes now being built. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote.

While the action of the commission does not commit the city to any definite policy, Mr. Cram said it was his purpose to proceed further when the report of counsel has been received, and to ask that the city make plans for operating the Fourth Avenue line in Brooklyn and the Centre street lines. The other Commissioners said they had no objection to obtaining the information asked for by Mr. Cram, but indicated that when it came to a question of voting for municipal operation there might be a difference of opinion.

Discussion of Mr. Cram's proposal may result, officials say, in further delay, as the proposed operating contracts cannot be advertised or awarded if there is a serious question under consideration favoring operation by the city. Regarding his resolution, Mr. Cram said: "I believe that where the city is providing the money to build the subways the city should operate the lines. I know there is nothing in the law forbidding the operation by the city. A guarantee such as has been proposed to the transit companies I believe to be illegal. The whole plan of the Interborough Company is to delay action for two reasons, the first being that the corporation may take advantage of present congestion in the subway and on the elevated lines, and the second that this is a bad time to put bonds on the market. The company wishes to delay until there is a better market."

Must Pay $15 a Week to Wife.
Francis Bergher, an inventor, who says he is living in Brooklyn, was yesterday ordered by Magistrate Marsh, of Stapleton, to pay his wife $15 a week for the support of herself and children. The wife, Henrietta Bergher, charged him with failing to support her and their three children since November 23, Mrs. Bergher is boarding in Port Richmond.

Women Pledged to Pure Food Cause

Will Aid in Nation Wide Movement to Establish Definite Standards.

Demand for a nation wide movement to establish definite standards as to what constitutes pure, clean and safe milk, were made last night in the Hotel Astor, at a reception to the Commission on National Milk Standards by the Committee on Women's Organizations of the New York Milk Committee. Eighteen members of the commission, which now is in session in New York working upon its final report on the milk situation throughout the country, attended the reception and four of their number told the women all about the work they have done to bring about a national sentiment for an improved milk supply.

Members of the auxiliary pledged their support to a movement which aims to give all of New York city milk of certified quality for a price far below that now paid for what is generally known as certified milk. The auxiliary, through its work on the east side last summer, discovered that the children there were getting a brand of milk which exceeded the quality of that which persons in far better circumstances use daily. This milk, obtained from a dairy demonstration company in New York, had been treated similarly to that of certified milk, although not technically in compliance with certification rules, and four thousand quarts of it were sold daily to the poor at seven cents a quart. The members of the auxiliary of this milk shall be increased and that all New York shall receive the benefit of it.

Mrs. A. M. Palmer presided at the meeting. She is chairman of the committee of the New York Milk Committee. Explained how the advocates of pure milk in this city had organized the Commission on National Milk Standards. This commission includes physicians and laymen familiar with every phase of the milk problem. Those who spoke of the commission's work were Dr. W. A. Evans, formerly Commissioner of Health of Chicago; Professor M. J. Rosenau, of Harvard Medical School; Professor W. H. Coker, of Wesleyan, and Dr. William H. Park, of the New York health department.

The commission to-day will complete its deliberations, and its report, which will be filed with the New York Milk Committee. It will be published by the national government and circulated throughout the country.

HARLEM FAMILIES
BOYCOTT POTATOESAssert There Is a Conspiracy Between Middlemen and Farmers to Boost Prices.

BIG CROP IN RESERVE

Two Additional Subpoenas Served in
Grand Jury's Investigation
of Cost of Butter.

Declaring that the high price of potatoes is not due to any genuine shortage of that popular vegetable, but to an agreement between the middlemen and the farmers by which the latter are holding their crops in storage, a hundred Harlem families have decided not to eat potatoes until the price comes down.

Edward Smithson, of No. 525 West 123d street, is the head of the movement, which has been organized under the name of the Harlem Co-operative League.

"A hundred families are in the agreement already," he said to a Herald reporter yesterday, "and we expect many more to join us. We have not gone into this thing without first carefully investigating it. If we were not convinced that the alleged shortage is part of a well laid plan to dupe the consumers we would not institute a boycott."

"We sent a man all over Long Island to find out just what the real conditions are, and he has reported that every farmer of consequence has great quantities of potatoes stored up, which he will not release until the price to him reaches $4 a barrel. We have evidence that the farmers have been encouraged in this attitude by certain middlemen, who expect to reap a rich harvest out of the present high prices."

"Our agent found one farmer who is holding 8,000 barrels in storage. The present price is $4.50 a barrel, and this farmer told our man he wasn't going to let go of what he had until he got $6 a barrel."

"Householders to-day are paying the same price for a bushel of potatoes that they paid a few years ago for a bag of them. While potatoes should not be more than 50 cents a bushel, we are willing to pay as high as $1.10 at this time of the year. The price at present is $1.75, which is not justified by conditions. It is well known that Europe is sending large quantities of potatoes here, yet the manipulators of the market are so clever that they have managed so as to keep the price up."

"We will follow the potato boycott with a boycott on butter unless the price comes down soon. I have visited the big dairies of Orange county and find that milk is plentiful and that there is no justification for the high price of butter."

A meeting of the league is to be called next week, when the members will be in conference to discuss the alleged combination to illegally control the price of butter. This makes seven subpoenas which have been issued as a result of the investigation.

One of the men who was subpoenaed yesterday was F. G. Henry, superintendent of the Mercantile Exchange. Another subpoena was issued to a member of the Butler and Egg Committee of the Exchange. The name of this man was not disclosed. William A. De Ford, Assistant District Attorney, who will conduct the investigation, said yesterday that he desired to be understood that the present inquiry does not constitute a criminal charge against any of the men who have been subpoenaed. "We are only after the facts now," he said. "Future activity in this matter will depend upon what we learn."

WOMEN TAXPAYERS UNITE.

To protest against high assessments for alleged unnecessary, premature and extravagant improvements in the borough, the women of Staten Island have formed an association known as the Women's Taxpayers' League.

The first bulletin issued by the league states that as the law does not provide for direct notice to property owners respecting various public improvements such as sidewalks, sewers and gutters, grading, street widening, street extensions, protective fences, and as frequently these improvements are not only premature but needless and cause hardship, the Women's Taxpayers' League hereafter will notify property owners of proposed improvements.

The league also announces that it will be represented January 20 at a meeting of the authorities in Borough Hall to consider several improvements.

97 DESCENDANTS
AT HER FUNERALMrs. Lucretia Albion, Dead at Age of 95, Saw Long Island Develop from Wilderness.

BIG CROP IN RESERVE

Two Additional Subpoenas Served in
of Cost of Butter.

Sixty grandchildren, twenty-five great grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren, it is expected, will be present this evening at the funeral services of Mrs. Lucretia Albion, widow of Mr. Platt Albion, as told in the Herald yesterday, died on Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sarah M. Nichols, No. 17A Hull street, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Albion was born in Patchogue, L. I., on October 12, 1818. At that time Patchogue was composed of a few scattering houses and Long Island was practically a wilderness. Brooklyn, which was quite a small place then, was several days travel away. Mrs. Albion remembered being carried across the East River by means of a rope ferry operated by horses and a windlass. She remembered the establishment of the first coach line to various points on Long Island before the building of the Long Island Railroad. Her greatest pleasure was that she lived long enough to see the achievement of the aeroplane.

Mrs. Albion came of a long lived family and is survived by a sister, Mrs. Sarah Cornelius, a resident of Patchogue, who is ninety-eight years old. She also has two brothers, Mr. Joel Hicks and Mr. John Wicks, also of Patchogue. One has attained the age of about eighty-seven and the other is nearly eighty years old. Mrs. Albion had twelve children, but only two survive her, one being Mrs. Nichols and the other Mrs. William M. Chase, who while in the employ of an undertaker named Relyea, assisted at the burial of President Lincoln. Two of her sons, Mr. John L. Albion and Mr. Jeremiah Albion, served in the civil war.

OBITUARY.

DR. WALTER W. JOHNSON.

Dr. Walter W. Johnson, fifty-three years old, died yesterday at the Graham Sanatorium, Rochester, N. Y. He was born in Naples, N. Y., and went to Rochester ten years ago. Dr. Johnson was one of the first in America to experiment in X-ray.

He was a charter member and the second president of the Roentgen Ray Society of America. He was graduated in 1887 from the New York College of Homeopathy, and after fifteen years' practice took up special work in electro-therapeutics.

Obituary Notes.

Mr. Louis Boutz, a veteran of the civil war and for more than thirty-five years an employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died on Wednesday at his home in Jersey City, aged eighty-eight.

Mr. Michael Larkin died at his home, No. 240 East Fifteenth street, yesterday, aged seventy-eight. He was for forty-five years in the contracting business, being senior member of the firm of Michael Larkin & Son.

Mr. Frederick W. Young, of South Orange, N. J., who was employed for many years by Stern Brothers, this city, died on Thursday at his home of double pneumonia. Mr. Young was forty-six years old.

Mrs. Rose Thompson Frazer, wife of the Rev. David R. Frazer, who was for many years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Newark, died suddenly on Thursday from apoplexy at the home, in Montclair, of her daughter, Mrs. E. Rogers Underwood.

Dr. Willey J. P. Kingsley, a well known expert in the treatment of cancer, died of the infirmities of age at Rome, N. Y., yesterday, aged eighty-seven. Dr. Kingsley had served two terms as Mayor of Rome. He was well known as a philanthropist, and at the time of the Red Cross appeal for help for the Cuban sufferers a few years ago he sent a carload of provisions to the starving people.

Mr. John Eberling, forty-six years old, a Newark resident of West End, died on Thursday of pneumonia at his home, No. 365 Palisade avenue, that city. He was superintendent of the publishing house of Benzinger Brothers, No. 2 Barclay street, this city, and he had worked for that firm thirty-one years. Eighteen months ago he married Miss Genevieve Mansfield, daughter of the late Mr. Isaac Mansfield, who was for many years engaged in the iron business at Hoboken.

Dr. James Samuel Hickey, philanthropist, physician and professor, died yesterday at his home in Philadelphia from inflammation of the heart. Dr. Hickey, who was fifty-six years old, was a professor of anatomy at Hahnemann Medical College, from which he was graduated in 1882.

Mrs. Bayard Van Rensselaer, daughter of the late Justice Marcus T. Reynolds, died in Albany yesterday, aged eighty-one. She had been a resident of Albany for many years and was a son of Stephen Van Rensselaer, whose residence was the old Van Rensselaer Manor House, Albany.

DANDRUFF 20 YEARS AND FALLING HAIR

So Bad Coat Collar and Shoulders Continually Covered With Great White Scales. Itching and Smarting Intense. Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

46 W. 22d st., New York City.—"For twenty years I have been troubled with dandruff and falling hair, itching and burning scalp, and in that time I have used dozens of widely advertised hair tonics, dandruff cures, and scalp treatments, but in no case with any lasting benefit. The dandruff was so bad that my coat collar and shoulders were continually covered with the great white scales, and my hair was becoming very thin. The itching and smarting was so intense and so constant that at times I could not sleep."

When I used Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, I used the Cuticura Ointment once a week, gently rubbing it into the scalp before retiring and following it the next morning with a light shampoo with Cuticura Soap. Now my scalp is as healthy, clear and free from dandruff as any one's and my hair is perceptibly thicker. It never comes out now when I brush and comb it. From the time Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured my dandruff I have not felt the slightest return of the trouble." (Signed) E. F. Stone, Nov. 24, 1911.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap, assisted when necessary by Cuticura Ointment, not only preserves, purifies and beautifies the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but tends to prevent clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, inflammation, irritation, redness and roughness, and other unwholesome conditions. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Sample a cake of Cuticura Soap. Now my scalp is as healthy, clear and free from dandruff as any one's and my hair is perceptibly thicker. It never comes out now when I brush and comb it. From the time Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured my dandruff I have not felt the slightest return of the trouble." (Signed) E. F. Stone, Nov. 24, 1911.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
CHICAGO, Ill., Friday.—Mrs. Louisa E. Coghlan, widow of Mr. Charles Coghlan, an actor and playwright of distinction, who died fourteen years ago in Galveston, Texas, died on Wednesday in Lakeside Hospital. She had been ill only a few days before she was taken to the hospital for treatment. Death was due to physical exhaustion brought about by age—she was seventy-five years old—and a stomach affection.

Mrs. Coghlan had made her home with her stepdaughter, Mrs. Augustus Pittou, Jr., who was known on the stage as Miss Gertrude Coghlan. Mrs. Coghlan was a native of England and in her girlhood days was an actress. She was Mr. Coghlan's second wife.
